

YEARS

AWNING COLLECTION 2016

INTRODUCTION TO AIRBEAM® AWNINGS

Not long after we started the inflatable revolution with our unique Vango AirBeam® system it became obvious, very quickly, that the technology had benefits others would love too. So in 2013 we launched our awning ranges and have never looked back. The years we put into development and testing, meant that we were able to launch our Vango AirBeam® Awning collections with a high degree of confidence and, as a result, have hardly been able to keep up with demand.

This year, Karen, who heads up our Awning design team, has created a wider range to meet the growing demand for choice. We have continued to innovate with new features, fabrics and designs; however, we have also developed the collections to meet a wider range of personal needs and price points.

VANGO AIRAWAY®- DRIVE-AWAY AWNINGS

For 2016, we have expanded the collection further with the introduction of the Galli, ideal for anyone who wants a larger and more usable space from their awning, and the wider, more luxurious Kela Deluxe with a removable zipped sun canopy.

VANGO AIRAWNING®- CARAVAN AWNINGS

Following the success of Vango AirAway® awnings, we introduced our collection of caravan awnings in 2014. Our models offer durable, high quality, inflatable caravan awnings that save time and take all the stress out of set up when you arrive on your favourite site.

For 2016, the popular Braemar and Varkala continue with impressive updates, including upgraded fabrics and optional storage. New to the collection are the Rapide and the range topping Kalari, offered in multiple sizes, featuring the New Sentinel fabrics and SuperBeams. The Kalari Annex has been designed to compliment the Kalari range, providing an extra external bedroom, or storage space, with easy zipped attachment.

WHY CHOOSE A VANGO AWNING?

THE ORIGINAL AIRBEAM®

Established in the West of Scotland in 1966, Vango is a market leader within the UK Outdoor industry, with a distinguished history of designing and manufacturing cutting edge outdoor equipment.

Following 12 years of development, in 2011 Vango pioneered and originated the use of AirBeam® inflatable technology in place of traditional poles.

It takes time, knowledge and bravery to develop something new. We spent years engineering and re-engineering our Vango AirBeam® technology. We scrapped more prototypes than we care to remember, before we were happy to launch our pioneering awnings. Whilst others, who now flatter us with attempted imitation, looked on and mocked our ideas, we strove for perfection. Doing things right is what we stand for, which is why people trust Vango and have done for 50 years.

TRIED AND TESTED TECHNOLOGY

Vango use tried and tested AirBeam® technology which is easy to inflate and maintain. The Vango AirBeams® are pre-attached beams encased in a highly robust, double-skinned sleeve system that create a stable structure when inflated.

If necessary, these are easy to repair or replace yourself, or through your local AirBeam® Service Centre.

We operate our own After Sales Centre and have a network of over 20 approved Vango AirBeam® Service Centres throughout the UK and Ireland to provide local support if you need it.

We weather test every model of awning during development, in a certified wind and rain test centre, to ensure they can withstand even the most extreme weather conditions!

INDEPENDENT AIRBEAM® SYSTEM

Vango AirBeam® offers an effortless system of independent AirBeams® which are not only easy to inflate, but easy to maintain. Each Vango AirBeam® is independent of the next and inflated in seconds by a separate valve. If at any point the inner tube needs to be replaced, it is easily accomplished.

Furthermore, as the originators of inflatable AirBeam® technology we developed the Vango AirSpeed® Valve system to make using a Vango AirBeam® awning even easier, by eliminating the need to screw or unscrew a cap. Equally the AirSpeed® valve is positioned in a more convenient location for inflating and deflating your awning.

Just a few of the great reasons to love Vango AirBeam®!

NEW SENTINEL FABRICS

In awnings, fabric is one of the most critical elements in creating world class products and, here at Vango, we have five decades of experience in creating the right materials for the job. In this collection we offer four superb fabric options, all of which feature fully taped seams to help meet a wide range of needs. This will allow you to consider factors like weight, durability, water resistance, look, feel and of course price, before you make your final selection.

SENTINEL ACTIVE 70

A 70 denier polyester fabric, which has been used extensively in Vango family tents for many years. It combines strength and weight to provide a compact product that is highly waterproof and durable.

SENTINEL COMFORT 150

This high quality, longer lasting fabric has both great feel and durability characteristics. Sentinel Comfort uses a 150 denier polyester yarn that is woven to produce a material that is very durable. We then give it a PU coating to make it highly waterproof.

SENTINEL PRO 420

The 420 denier double ripstop threads we weave into Sentinel Pro, provide an incredibly strong fabric that will withstand a great deal of punishment from the sun, wind and rain. The high-density base fabric, combined with the technical coatings we use, make Sentinel Pro a market leader in terms of waterproofness and longevity.

SENTINEL LUXE 600

This is the pinnacle of our awning material ranges. As with all of our fabrics, it is highly waterproof and able to withstand most weather conditions. The super strong 600 denier double ripstop threads make it one of the strongest awning fabrics on the market and this, combined with a texturised 300 denier base material, provides a fabric that is not only strong and durable, but also gives the awning a truly luxurious look and feel.

GETTING STARTED

AirAway®

What attachment options are available?

Vango use tried and tested AirBeam® technology which is easy to inflate and maintain. There are various attachment options for a Vango AirAway® Awning. These are: kador, fixing kit, storm straps and hook and loop. An additional attachment option is a pole and clamp for gutter rails, which are sold separately.

Kador - The AirAway® comes pre-fitted with a 6mm kador strip. If there is a pre-attached rail on your vehicle, the awning can be slid directly through it. However, we recommend using a fixing kit (sold separately) to ensure the kador fits snugly and to provide flexibility when driving the vehicle away whilst the AirAway® is still pitched. The different types of rails that use a fixing kit are shown below :

Awning Channel Rail

Wind-Out Rail

J-Rail

These kits are available from all good awning stockists and comprise of a long, double-edged, beaded strip of material and, depending on their length, three or four pieces of figure-8 shaped plastic. It is really important that you know the dimensions of your attachment point before you purchase a fixing kit (if it is a wind out awning, you will also need to know the brand name as well as the dimensions). There are two different types of fixing kit available: 6mm to 6mm and 6mm to 4mm. These sizes relate to the dimensions of the beaded material strips found in the fixing kit. The latter figure – 6mm and 4mm respectively - is the most important, as this is your vehicle attachment point measurement.

Top Tip:

To ensure your fixing kit is long enough, buy one that is slightly longer than you need and trim it down.

Webbing straps - If you don't already have an attachment point on your vehicle, don't panic, as webbing straps can be used! The webbing straps are supplied with the awning and can be clipped into the buckles on the rear of the AirAway® roof. The straps can then be passed over the roof of the vehicle and pegged into the ground. It is also important to adjust the straps to fully tension the roof of the awning.

To protect your ground sheet and make your awning last longer, we recommend that you use a Vango footprint. Not only will it prevent damage to your ground sheet, but it will also keep it clean and dry, handy when packing away.

Top Tip:

If you are throwing straps over the top of your van, buy a couple of tennis balls, put a slit in them, push the ends of the strap into them, then throw them over the top.

Hook and loop tabs - If you have roof bars on your vehicle you can attach the awning through the hook and loop tabs that are supplied with the awning.

Pole and clamp - A pole and clamp system can be bought separately and is used with a deep gutter on the vehicle. Slide the pole into the sleeve at the top of the rear section of the AirAway®. Place the pole and fabric into the gutter on the vehicle, and use the clamps to secure at both ends and in the centre.

How do I use the fixing kit to attach my awning to the vehicle?

Simply slide the figure-8 pieces of plastic on to the edge of the pre-attached awning kador then slide the fixing kit kador on to the other side of the figure-8. This is then ready to slide into the groove/channel of the vehicle rail.

What is TBS®II?

Vango's patented TBS® II – Tension Band System ensures that your awning performs in adverse conditions, especially strong, changeable winds. In calm conditions the system can be disconnected if desired. When tensioned, the bands brace the AirBeam® and prevent sideways movement. The buckles should be adjusted so that slack is removed, but not over tensioned, as this may deform the beams.

AirAwning®

How easy is it to put up and how do I attach it to my vehicle? Also, can I do it on my own?

AirBeam® technology is easy to inflate and maintain, so even if you are on your own it is simple to pitch and attach to your vehicle. There is a pre-attached kador strip on the awning that slides easily into the caravan channel. You can simply feed the leading edge of the kador into the front or rear of your caravan's rail and gently pull the AirAwning® into the desired position, ensuring the roof of the AirAwning® is positioned on the horizontal part of the caravan's awning rail. (Please only pull your AirAwning® by the webbing loop at either end of the kador). Once pegged out, each AirBeam® can be inflated in seconds using the double action pump supplied. Each caravan awning is supplied with a draught skirt, rear supporting poles and foam draught excluder pads to seal it against your caravan.

How does it stand up to adverse weather conditions?

We weather test every model of awning during development, in a certified wind and rain test centre, to ensure they can withstand the most extreme weather conditions!

Each awning comes complete with detachable storm straps that can be attached in windy conditions. The bracer AirBeams® included will increase the tension in the roof and provide extra stability.

In windy conditions, traditional awnings with poles can damage the caravan, motorhome or campervan they are attached to. The poles can cause dents or holes, if they bang up against the vehicle. AirBeam® awnings help protect against this, as the beams have no hard edges to cause damage.

AIRSPEED® - HOW IT WORKS

The success of our pioneering Vango AirBeam® Technology allowed us to develop the Vango AirSpeed® valve system to make using your AirBeam® awning or tent even easier, eliminating the need to screw or unscrew a cap. Equally the Vango AirSpeed® valve is positioned in a more convenient location for inflating and deflating.
